"REPUBLICAN ARMY" IN FIERCE CLASH WITH DUBLIN POLICE

MACAO RACES

TO-MORROW (By AJAX).

In an interesting card, two events promise to provide race fans with thrilling sport at the Macao Race Meeting to be held to-morrow. The Chu Kiang Handicap will probably be the best race of the day, and a number of good class ponies are entered. The Sydney Handicap will also produce a good race, and among the Australian candidates for the race is City of Melbourne, who is looked upon as a good thing.

The field in the Huang Ho Handicap is small, and among the ponies there seems very little to touch Prestwick, top weight, while Whitehall should have very little difficulty in securing a place.

City of Melbourne should be the favourite for the Sydney Handicap for Australian ponies, and should win, if the distance does not prove too great. Kilrea and Tin Tac are others who will be well supported.

The big race of the day, the Chu Kiang Handicap, looks to be certain money for Mr. Frost on Ajax, with Workable Sting among the placed ponies. Deveron, who always appears on the verge of winning, is carrying a favourable weight and is well worth watching.

There is a big field entered for the Chien Tang Handicap, and if the Chien Tang shows the form he has exhibited in recent weeks, he may just be able to do it. Cebu will give him a run for the money, and, since the latter pony is only carrying 146 lbs., he is almost certain of a place.

SWISS GUILTY OF ASSAULTING YOUNG WOMAN

But Chinese Girl "Played With Fire."

PRISON OR $200 FINE.

Henry Urmi, the Swiss garage proprietor of 455 Lockhart Road, Wanchoi, was this morning found guilty of indecent assault upon Cheung Wun, a girl of 21. Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy, sentenced him to three months' imprisonment, with the option of a fine of $200, and also ordered him to pay compensation of $50 to the complainant.

In giving his verdict, Mr. Schofield said that both the stories of the accused and the complainant were hard to believe, the complainant's being nothing but a pack of lies which she made up to protect her own good name.

Accused's story was also not to be believed in parts. "I find him guilty of indecent assault under extenuating circumstances," His Worship ruled.

"The complainant is not to be sympathized with, for in my opinion, she had the chance to go home but, playing with fire, got burnt." She has however suffered some injury so I order the accused to pay her a compensation of $50."

Mr. Henry Carpenter, the well-known globe-trotter, arrived here this morning on the Dollar liner, President Harrison. Mr. Carpenter, who will stay in the Colony for a few days, is making his third world tour.

With customary civic ceremony, members of the Livery Guilds of the City attended at the Guildhall to elect the Lord Mayor for the ensuing year. The ceremony was preceded by Divine Service at St. Lawrence Jewry Church attended by the Lord Mayor Elect, Alderman Percy Walter Greenaway, who is a member of the firm of Messrs. Daniel Greenaway & Sons, printers and stationers in the City. Alderman Percy Greenaway (centre), carrying a posy—an ancient custom—walking in the procession to the church.

PROGRESS IN ARMS PARLEY ANTICIPATED

Important Development
Near At Hand.

SIMON'S SPEECH PRAISED.

London, To-day.
Developments of far-reaching importance, which may serve to remove the obstacles impeding the progress of disarmament and place discussion of this vital international problem upon a much more hopeful basis, are likely to occur in the Bureau of the Disarmament Conference next week.

Not only will the French plan, already outlined, be elaborated and expounded by M. Herriot, France's Premier, but Sir John Simon, who is flying to Geneva on Sunday, will present in detail proposals which are a natural sequel to the British Government's statement of policy contained in his important House of Commons speech on Thursday night.

Costly Film In Malaya

Tale Of Tigers And Native Life.

Malaya is once more to be the venue of a jungle "talkie." Under the title of "Man-eater," the picture, according to Messrs. John Bockhorst, Richard Maedler and John Dunn, will be a tale of the ferocious Malayan tigers, and the lives of the natives.

The preliminary work on the picture has already begun at Penang, and when the "stars," Marian Burns, Kane Richmond and Harry Wood, arrive there, together with the three technical men, the production will start in earnest.

"The production will cost about $350,000, and will have a romantic setting to be shown in strong relief against a native background," said Mr. Bockhorst when seen by the China Mail reporter on the s.s. President Harrison. "After a short stay in Penang, we shall move northward towards Siam and the elephant country. We shall be engaged about eight months taking the shots."

"Hollywood is very busy right now," Mr. Bockhorst continued. "The Fox Studios are producing 'Cavalcade,' your magnificent British play. It is to be a super-production, and with one or two exceptions, the actors have been brought over from England."

Harbin, To-day.
Efforts continue to release the Japanese interned in Manchuli when Su Ping-wen rebelled. Captain Yamaoka, military attaché from the Japanese Embassy at Moscow, who is now at Matzlevskaya, telegraphs that 44 Japanese are interned in Manchuli at the Japanese Consulate, while 125 Japanese frontier guards formerly employed there by the Manchukuo authorities, together with six civilians, are confined in prison.—Reuter.

INAUGURATION OF PRESIDENT SET FOR MARCH

State Voting Indicates
Strength Of "Wets."

SPEEDY LEGISLATION.

Although President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt will not actually take over the duties of his office until next March 4, the machinery of Government will require all that time for readjustment to the management of the new party, according to American passengers aboard the s.s. President Harrison.

Passengers related how, when they left the wharf at New York, betting was five to one in favour of Mr. Hoover. When they sailed from Los Angeles, the odds were even. As they heard the plaintive farewell music of Hawaii many of them were thinking sad thoughts about the Republican party, for the odds had switched to five to one and then seven to one in favour of Mr. Roosevelt.

Passengers learned that Mr. John Nance Garner, newly-elected vice-president, would continue as Speaker of the House of the 72nd Congress until March 4, the date of the inauguration.

The London on New York cross rate quoted on Thursday at $-G33.30%, stood this morning at $-G33.29%, while the New York on London rate, quotations of C.B.E., has resumed his duties as which have not been received since Wednesday owing to public holidays in New York and Hong Kong. was quoted this morning at $-G33.31%.

Rumour of Japanese Loan to China Rouses General Feng

Canton, To-day.
General Feng Yu-hsiang, a member of the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee, has enquired from Foreign Minister Lo Wen-kan whether it is true that Mr. Tai Chi-tao, president of Examination Yuan in Nanking, had gone to Japan twice on a secret mission and that the Nanking Government has concluded an agreement with Japan whereby the latter agrees to lend $50,000,000 to China on condition that the amount must not be used for military purposes against foreign powers and only for internal affairs.

In another telegram to Mr. Lo Wen-kan, General Feng denied re-

PIRATE BAND RAIDS SMALL CARGO JUNK

Craft Left Colony Last Wednesday.

CREW LOCKED BELOW.

A piracy in Chinese waters, in which a rifle, a rusty revolver and three bayonets were used by the marauders, six in number, was carried out on Wednesday afternoon last on a cargo boat between Tam Shui, Chinese Territory and Hong Kong.

A report was made to the Police by Li Tak, the master of the boat to-day.
Cargo and money, to the total value of $228, was stolen by the pirates who made their way to shore after having kept their victims, three in number, under the hatch for a night.

In his report to the police, Li Tak, 52, master, stated that his boat, of 30 piculs' capacity, set sail from Hong Leung Shun Wan, Sai Kung District, at 5 a.m. on November 9 with a crew, comprising himself and his two foks, Fu Tam and Li Mau. The cargo was six large sacks of sugar valued at $200, three baskets of matches, and other sundry goods, all to the value of $228. The craft was bound for Tam Shui, Chinese Territory.

At 3 p.m. on Wednesday afternoon, after ten hours' sailing, when in Chinese waters, a Hoklo fishing boat drew alongside the cargo boat. Six men, one armed with a rifle, another with a rusty revolver, and three with daggers, like bayonets, boarded the junk and threatened the master and his foks, whom they ordered down the hatch, and then locked in. Here the victims remained for the night. They could hear the robbers removing the cargo.

At daylight the next morning, the pirates left and sailed to shore. Making their way to the deck, the crew found that all the cargo with the exception of 11 small bags of sugar, had been stolen, also $150 in money.

The craft turned back for Hong Kong, arriving at Shaikwan yesterday. The victims describe their attackers' boat as being a very old one.

CROWN SOLICITOR RESUMES DUTY.

Among the personal items noted in the Government Gazette, it is announced that Mr. H. K. Holmes, C.B.E., has resumed his duties as Crown Solicitor.

Messrs. C. B. Lyon and J. E. Black have been empowered as Vice-Consuls for the United States in Hong Kong.

Mr. Samuel Insull, the former multi-millionaire, who is "wanted" in America on charges of embezzlement, has been detained by the police at Athens. His detention is understood to have followed a request by the United States Minister to the Police of Athens, pending the institution of extradition proceedings.

BALDWIN URGES SCRAPPING OF FLYING FORCES

Air Warfare Appalling
In Potentialities.

CITIES ARE HELPLESS.

London, To-day.
"Aerial warfare is still in its infancy, its potentialities incalculable and inconceivable. I am firmly convinced," declared Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, "that if it is possible the air forces of the world ought to be abolished. But if they are abolished you still have potential bombers. In my view it is necessary for the nations of the world concerned to devote the whole of their minds to this question of civil aviation and see if it is possible to control civil aviation to a condition that such disarmament would be feasible."

"Undoubtedly, though she had no air force, Germany should be a participant in any such discussions."

Mr. Baldwin was speaking in the House of Commons in respect of the disarmament suggestions put forward by Sir John Simon.

The debate created an immense impression on the crowded house and has since been subject of much comment.

"What the world suffers from, is a sense of fear," said Mr. Baldwin, "and no one thing is more responsible for that instinctive fear than fear of the air. Up to the time of the last war civilians were exempt from the worst perils of war. They suffered sometimes from hunger, from loss of sons and relatives, but now, in addition, they suffer from constant fear not only of being killed themselves but, what is perhaps worse for a man, of seeing his wife and his children killed from the air."

DR. SUN YAT-SEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Canton, To-day.
In memory of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen's birthday, a mass meeting was held at the Chung Shan Memorial Hall this morning, Mr. Chow Lo presiding. All Government offices and schools are on holiday.

POLITICAL LEADERS THREATENED

Baton Battle Rages In City Streets.

DE VALERA FIGHTS OUTBURST.

Dublin, To-day.

A very grave clash between the so-called Republican Army volunteers and Dublin police, has resulted in the injury of many persons in baton charges and the street fighting which followed the general disorders.

Peace, is far from being returned to the city.

All available police were called out in consequence of an outbreak of disorder following a parade of thousands of Irish Republican Army troops through the principal streets. The military formation of the procession was eventually held up by a cordon of police who charged with batons. The Republicans then stoned the windows of shops displaying poppies and seized poppies from passers-by.

Baton charges became more frequent as the night advanced. The centre of the city was surrounded by Police.

Many were taken to hospital and there were several arrests.

Following a protest to the Dail, by the Cosgrave, General Mulcahy that he and others had been threatened with death, Mr. de Valera declared every power in the state would be used to the fullest possible extent to preserve the right of free discussion of public questions. No individuals or groups of individuals could assume the duties which properly belonged to the state.—Reuter.

U.S. Flagship Arrives

The U.S.S. Houston, flagship to the American Asiatic Fleet, carrying the flag of Admiral M. M. Taylor, arrived from Shanghai this morning at 7.45 a.m., accompanied by the Commander-in-Chief's armed yacht, Isabel.

At 8 a.m. the U.S.S. Houston fired a salute of 21 guns as she steamed into harbour, the Blackhead Fort, at Kowloon, replying. Later the U.S.S. Mindanao, river gunboat, fired a salute of 17 guns to the Commander-in-Chief, Admiral Taylor, the U.S.S. Houston replying.

The Houston anchored at No. 6 Buoy, the yacht Isabel at No. 12.

This is the Houston's first visit to the Colony this year. She will remain for a fortnight.

The U.S.S. Houston makes a wonderful contrast to the British men-o-war in the harbour, being built on almost the same lines as the French Cruiser Primauguet which left the Colony yesterday. She is lying beside H.M.S. Kent.

Washington, To-day.
A French War Debt note, which the State Department says is in the same category as the British, was received last evening.

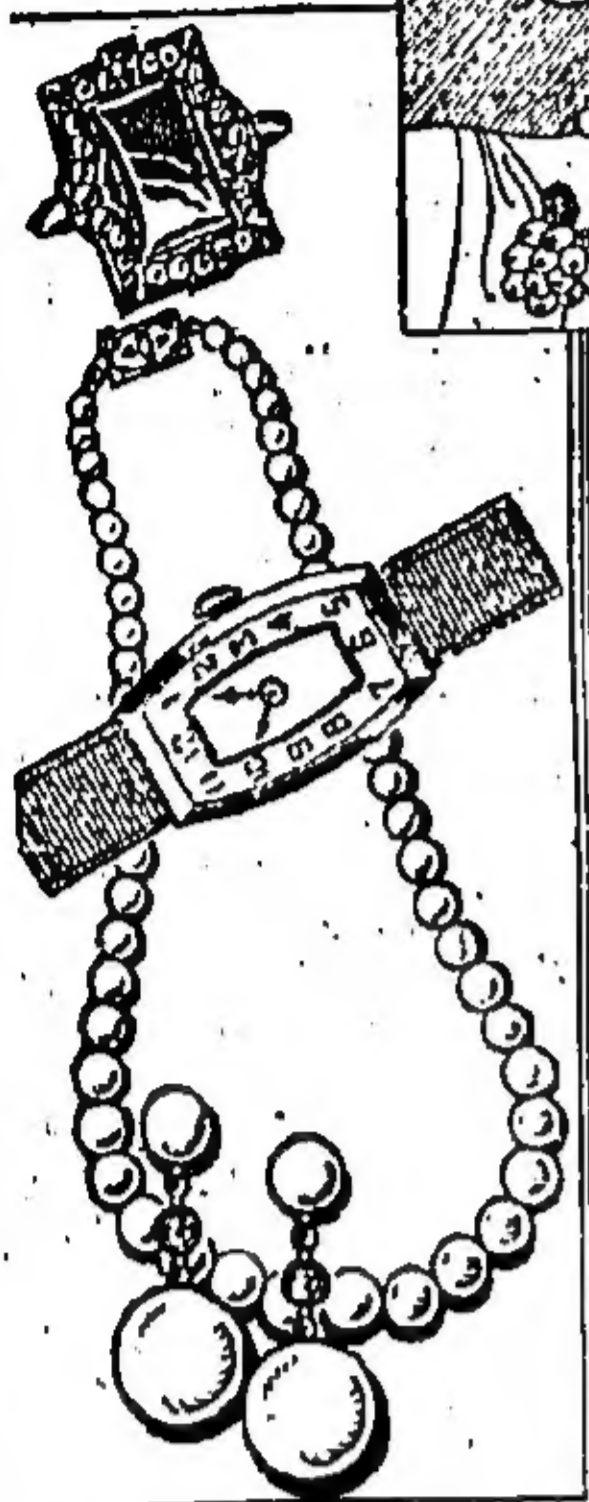

The report offers no comment, but it is suggested in some quarters that Great Britain and France have reached some understanding.—Reuter.

Menu Suggestions For To-morrow

TIFFIN.

Savoury Corn Croquette.
Chinese Sauce.
Toad in the Hole.
Stuffed Egg Salad.
Date, Apple and Banana Jelly.
DINNER.
Vegetable Soup Maigre.
Stuffed Dried Mushrooms.
Raised Pheasant Pie.
Fruit Salad.

Fruit salads are becoming increasingly popular. At one time salads were made only of plants such as mustard and cress, lettuce, endive, etc. but now all kinds of fruit, cheese and nuts are used.

Fruit salads can be the most attractive and refreshing of all salads. To appeal to the eye and appetite they must be made from thoroughly chilled and not over ripe fruits. Fresh, tinned and dried fruits are all suitable for salads.

Pears, bananas, oranges, pumaloes, apples all cut in even pieces with blanched walnuts make a good combination. Fruits that discolour on exposure to air should be marinated or sprinkled with lemon juice as soon as peeled.

Never put a fruit salad together just before serving it. Dressings should be more delicate than for vegetable salads. Mayonnaise mixed with cream is particularly appropriate.

Vegetable Soup Maigre.

Half a small cabbage, 1 carrot, 1 turnip, 2 onions, 3 leeks, 1 bunch Chinese celery, 2 oz. of dripping, 2 quarts water, slices of toasted bread.

Shred the vegetables finely, and put them to fry gently in the dripping for a quarter of an hour. Pour in the water and boil gently for about an hour. Put the toasted bread into a tureen and pour the soup over.

Savoury Corn Croquettes.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter and cook in it 1 slice onion, ½ mild green or red pepper, finely chopped, until vegetables are soft and slightly tinted brown.

Add ¼ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon sugar. Stir until blended, add ¼ cup thick tomato puree, heat to boiling point, stirring constantly. Then add 1 cup hot grated sweet corn. Let cook 1 minute, turn on a buttered platter. When cold shape into 8 cork-shaped croquettes, roll in fine cracker crumbs, egg and again in crumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat, drain on brown paper and serve with cheese sauce.

Toad in The Hole.

One lb. of very tender beef steak, ½ lb. of ox kidneys, 8 oz. flour, 8 eggs, 1 pint of milk, pepper and salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder. Put the flour into a basin, make a well in the middle, put in the eggs and mix gradually, add the milk by degrees.

Beat well and add the pepper and salt and baking powder. Cut the steak into pieces the way of the grain, and also cut up the kidney; put them in a well-greased Yorkshire pudding tin and pour the batter over. Bake for 1½ to 2 hours. If the steak is not likely to be a tender one, it should be cooked before using.

Sausages are excellent for toad in the hole, also underdone cooked meat. Mutton kidneys are also very good.

RENOVATION OF WHITE FROCK.

Sometimes after repeated washing a white frock becomes a bad colour. If it is put through the following solution it will regain its original colour. Mix three table-spoonfuls of chloride of lime with three gallons of water. After the sediment has settled at the bottom of the bowl the clear water should be transferred to the pan in which the frocks is to be boiled. Add several teaspoonfuls of vinegar to the water and allow the frock to soak for some hours. Finally boil for about a quarter of an hour. Rinse the frock thoroughly and hang it in the sun to dry.

KING'S THEATRE COMMENCING TO-MORROW.

DRESS-MAKING AS CAREER.

Decorating Another Useful Vocation.

Openings for girls which seem peculiarly suited to their capacities are not so many that any particular need can be ignored. There are two, one of which seems to suffer from under rather than over crowding, and the other which does not in its present form fill a public need.

The first is dress-designing by properly trained women. This implies a strenuous course of dress-making and patternmaking. It is useful when these two branches can be supplemented by a drawing course and some knowledge of the history of dress. If, however, there is no time or no money for these, the first measures suffice.

Dress-designers are something like cinema stars. If they show real aptitude they can almost at once command large salaries. If they improve they become the prop and stay of any business. A well-known school of design said recently that it could not provide enough good, trained dress-designers for the demand. In order to become a dress-designer the girl must have a real talent if she is to succeed. It is no use putting her into this kind of business unless her whole heart is in it and is supported by some originality of outlook.

The other vocation is that of decorating. The expensive decorators and furnishers are too many already, but everybody knows how difficult it is to find an interior decorator who will help and advise, having regard both to cost and to the fact that it is one's own house and that the decorator himself is not going to live in it. Women decorators have been successful in presenting new thing and new ideas to clients, and in dividing their taste and in helping it. They realise that if a certain shade of grey is wanted, it can be had with a little trouble and with little extra expense. They also know a house from a woman's point of view. Now that houses are being taken in hand as a whole some such help is often welcome, and the girl with taste and originality who is disposed to recognise her client's point of view as well as her own will find in decoration an opening in which she may carve an entirely new path.

The Dancing Partner

"Don't wait for me," he said, "you go on, I'll follow you. I've got something to finish."

"As she turned to obey he called after her. 'Tell them I'm going to bring a young man with me—such a nice young man, and an excellent dancer. All the girls will like him.' Then he laughed and closed the door."

"Her father generally kept his doings secret from everybody, but she had a pretty shrewd suspicion of what he had been planning, and so, to a certain extent, was able to prepare the guests for what was coming. Anticipation ran high, and the arrival of the famous mechanist was eagerly awaited."

"At length the sound of wheels was heard outside, followed by a great commotion in the passage, and old Wenzel himself, his jolly face red with excitement and suppressed laughter, burst into the room and announced in stentorian tones:

"Herr Geibel—and a friend."

"Herr Geibel and his 'friend' entered, greeted with shouts of laughter and applause, and advanced to the centre of the room."

"Allow me, ladies and gentlemen," said Herr Geibel, "to introduce you to my friend, Lieutenant Fritz. Fritz, my dear fellow, bow to the ladies and gentlemen."

"Geibel placed his hand encouragingly on Fritz's shoulder, and the lieutenant bowed low, accompanying the action with a harsh clicking noise in his throat, unpleasantly suggestive of a death rattle. But that was only a detail."

"He walks a little stiffly" (old Geibel took his arm and walked him forward a few steps. He certainly did walk stiffly), "but then, walking is not his forte. He is essentially a dancing man. I have only been able to teach him the waltz as yet, but at that he is faultless. Come, which of you ladies may I introduce him to as a partner. He keeps perfect time; he never gets tired; he won't kick you or tread on your dress; he will hold you as firmly as you like, and go as quickly or as slowly as you please; he never gets giddy; and he is full of conversation. Come, speak up for yourself, my boy."

"The old gentleman twisted one of the buttons at the back of his coat, and immediately Fritz opened his mouth, and in thin tones that appeared to proceed from the back of his head, remarked suddenly, 'May I have the pleasure?' and then shut his mouth again with a snap."

"That Lieutenant Fritz had made a strong impression on the company was undoubted, yet none of the girls seemed inclined to dance with him. They looked askance at his waxen face, with its staring eyes and fixed smile, and shuddered. At last old Geibel came to the girl who had conceived the idea."

"It is your own suggestion, carried out to the letter," said Geibel, "an electric dancer. You owe it to the gentleman to give him a trial."

"She was a bright, saucy little girl, fond of a frolic. Her host added his entreaties, and she consented."

"Herr Geibel fixed the figure to her. Its right arm was screwed round her waist, and held her firmly; its delicately-jointed left hand was made to fasten itself upon her right. The old toy-maker showed her how to regulate its speed, and how to stop it and release herself."

"It will take you round in a complete circle," he explained; "be careful that no one knocks against you and alters its course."

"The music struck up. Old Geibel put the current in motion, and Annette and her strange partner began to dance."

"For a while everyone stood watching them. The figure performed its purpose admirably. Keeping perfect time and step, and holding its little partner tight clasped in an unyielding embrace, it revolved steadily, pouring forth at the same time a constant flow of squeaky conversation, broken by brief intervals of grinding silence."

"How charming you are looking to-night," it remarked in its thin, far-away voice. "What a lovely day it has been. Do you like dancing? How well our steps agree. You will give me another, won't you? Oh, don't be so cruel. What a charming gown you have on. Isn't waltzing delightful? I could go on dancing for ever—with you. Have you had supper?"

"As she grew more familiar with the uncanny creature the girl's nervousness wore off, and she entered into the fun of the thing."

"Oh, he's just lovely," she cried, laughing, "I could go on dancing with him all my life."

"Couple after couple now joined them, and soon all the dancers in the room were whirling round behind them. Nicholas Geibel stood looking on, beaming with childish delight at his success."

"Old Wenzel approached him, and whispered something in his ear. Geibel laughed and nodded, and the two worked their way quietly towards the door."

"This is the young people's house to-night," said Wenzel, "as soon as they were outside; 'you and I will have a quiet pipe and a glass of hock, over in the counting-house.'"

"Meanwhile the dancing grew more fast and furious. Little Annette loosened the screw regulating her partner's rate of progress, and the figure flew round with her swifter and swifter. Couple after couple dropped out exhausted, but they only went the faster, till at length they remained dancing alone."

"Madder and madder became the waltz. The music lagged behind; the musicians, unable to keep pace, ceased, and sat staring. The younger guests applauded, but the older faces began to grow anxious. "Hadden't you better stop, dear," said one of the women, "you'll make yourself so tired."

"But Annette did not answer. "I believe she's fainted," cried out a girl who had caught sight of her face as it was swept by."

"One of the men sprang forward and clutched at the figure, but its impetus threw him down on to the floor, where its steel-cased feet laid bare his cheek. The thing evidently did not intend to part with its prize easily."

"Had anyone retained a cool head, the figure, one cannot help thinking, might easily have been stopped. Two or three men acting in concert might have lifted it bodily off the floor, or have jammed it into a corner. But few human heads are capable of remaining under excitement. Those who are not present think how stupid must have been those who were; those who reflect afterwards how simple it would have been to do this, that, or the other, if only they had thought of it at the time."

"The women grew hysterical. The men shouted contradictory directions to one another. Two of them made a bungling rush at the figure, which had the result of forcing it out of its orbit, in the centre of the room, and sending it crashing against the walls and furniture. A stream of blood showed itself down the girl's white frock, and followed her along the floor. The affair was becoming horrible. The women rushed screaming from the room. The men followed them."

"One sensible suggestion was made: 'Find Geibel—fetch Geibel.'"

"No one had noticed him leave the room, no one knew where he was. A party went in search of him. The others, too unnerved to go back into the ball-room, crowded outside the door, and listened. They could hear the steady whirr of the wheels upon the polished floor as the thing spun round and round; the dull thud as every now and again it dashed itself and its burden against some opposing object and ricocheted off in a new direction."

"And, everlastingly, it talked in that thin, ghostly voice; repeating over and over the same formula: 'How charming you are looking to-night. What a lovely day it has been. Oh, don't be so cruel. I could go on dancing for ever—with you. Have you had supper?'"

"Of course they sought for Geibel everywhere but where he was. They looked in every room in the house, then they rushed off

A WHOLE WEEK'S NEWSPAPERS IN ONE.

The sensational defeat of the Giraffe by 2½ lengths by the Kong Bros., crack Australian pony, Polar Star, in the Fremantle St. Leger, robbed Mr. Leo Frost of his chance of opening a new chapter in the history of the Colony turf by winning the three St. Legers.

The champion jockey won the Hong Kong St. Leger on Liberty Bay and the sub-griffins St. Leger on Racing Boy, at the thirteenth extra race meeting held at the Valley on November 5, and had he brought off the hat trick he would have established a precedent in the annals of the Hong Kong Jockey Club.

Two record times were bettered during the day's racing, 9.4/5 seconds being clipped off the time for the 1½ miles distance for Australian ponies and 1.3/5 seconds being clipped from the best time over the same distance for China ponies. Neither of these new times constitute records, owing to the scale of weight per inches.

A detailed report of the meeting is given in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Scot and Sassenach alike gathered at the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps Headquarters to celebrate the Scottish Company's eighth Hallowe'en Reunion Dinner on November 4. Ushered in to the swirling music of the pipes, the haggis, brown and steaming, was the motif of the evening. The passing round the official table of the bowl with a "wee sma' drapple" was also carried out with due ceremony. Nearly 100 other members of the Scottish Coy., and guests were present. Capt. Forsyth proposed the loyal toast, and after the singing of "Scots Wha Hae," Capt. Forsyth again rose to propose "The Visitors," Mr. K. E. Greig replying.

A report of the function is published in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

The grounds of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, were gaily decked for the occasion of the Olde English Faire, which commemorates the opening of St. Andrew's Church for public worship. The faire on November 5 was declared open by Mrs. J. R. Wood, the wife of the Pulene Judge of Hong Kong, in the presence of a large and distinguished gathering, the opening ceremony taking place on the Village Green. Bright sunshine favoured the largely attended function. All the fun of the traditional "faire" was thoroughly enjoyed by young and old alike. There were many booths at which all kinds of commodities, fruits, flowers, needlework, books, cigarettes, and Christmas presents of all descriptions, were sold.

The function is reported in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Her decks crowded with khaki-clad figures, and played out by three bands, the troopship Neurula left the harbour at 10 a.m. on November 4 en route to Shanghai with a battalion of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and a number of details. His excellency the General Officer Commanding, Major-General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., was on board, en route to the North to pay a short visit. His Excellency, accompanied by his A.D.C.'s, Captain D. R. M. Cameron and Lieut. Baskerville-Glegg, arrived at the quay-side about half an hour before the ship sailed, and after exchanging greetings with a large number of officers, went on board.

The departure is reported in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

"INNOCENTS OF CHICAGO"—QUEEN'S THEATRE.

Directed by Lapino Lane, who himself was the cause of much laughter in "The Love Parade," the British film riot "Innocents of Chicago" is the current attraction at the Queen's Theatre. How a beautiful little newspaper reporter is instrumental in saving an ingenious young Briton from death at the hands of Chicago gangsters is hilariously told in this production.

The story commences when Betty Norton is sent to interview Percy Lloyd, a stupid individual, in the guise of Henry Kendall, who comes to Chicago to take over the editorial responsibilities of a milk establishment. He is lured into "taking a ride" with Peg Guinan, who discovers that the milk product is in reality "booze."

How these two innocents escape the gangsters is funnily told in this shrewd satire on Chicago gang warfare.

"CAUGHT PLASTERED"—CENTRAL THEATRE.

That inimitable pair, Robert Woolsey and Bert Wheeler, who learned that two can be more successful than one, are shown back together again in "Caught Plastered," now showing at the Central Theatre. That it is a farce goes without saying, and of the most idiotic type.

In "Caught Plastered" they are ably assisted by their feminine third, Dorothy Lee. "I'm That Way About You," is sung by Wheeler and Miss Lee.

Bert Wheeler's perennial sweetheart, Dorothy Lee, stands for his nonsense again. She started with him in "Rio Rita," and has never kissed another film hero since. Lucy Beaumont and De Witt Jennings are in the supporting cast. Recommended!

"DEADLOCK"—KING'S THEATRE.

A Butcher's Empire production, directed by George King and introducing a talkie studio as a background, "Deadlock" is now showing at the King's Theatre. The story is straightforward and contains a strong melodramatic plot, written by Charles Bennett.

The films tells the story of a murder committed in a talking picture studio, of which five people are suspected. The shooting takes place whilst the film star, who is the victim of the murder, is actually engaged in acting in a scene before the camera. Mystery enshrouds the affair, and the manner in which the murderer is brought to justice will hold the audience spellbound.

Headed by Steward Rome, Warwick Ward, Majorie Hume and Alma Taylor, the cast also includes Janice Adair, Esmond Knight, Hay Plumb, Cameron Carr, Annette Benson and the talented Japanese actor Kiyoshi Takase.

"SHE WANTED A MILLIONAIRE"—ORIENTAL THEATRE.

The charming innocence of Miss Joan Bennett, and the awkward, overwhelming love-making of Spencer Tracy are cleverly exploited in Fox's romantic drama, "She Wanted a Millionaire," which is now showing at the Oriental Theatre.

The annual Miss America beauty contest gives Joan the long hoped-for opportunity of meeting and marrying a millionaire. She realises her ambition for clothes, mansions, Paris and luxury, but within a short time discovers that she has given herself into the keeping of a madly jealous husband, who had sadistic tendencies. It is then that the dog-like devotion of Spencer Tracy comes to free her from a terrible situation.

MAIL REVIEW

"THE RADIO PATROL"—MAJESTIC THEATRE.

The American Police come into their own again in Universal production "The Radio Patrol," a melodrama now playing at the Majestic Theatre. Robert Armstrong, Russell Hopton, Lila Lee and June Clyde have the principal roles in this screen play by Tom Reed, and directed by Edward Cahn.

The plot deals with two officers attached to the Radio Patrol, a new branch of Police work, and the film depicts the latest devices for dealing with the activities of racketeers. Armstrong and Hopton are well contrasted as the two friends.

MAIL REVIEW

"THE GHOST TRAIN"—STAR THEATRE.

Revolving on a story of the smuggling of arms into Russia by train, the British Gaumont thriller production "The Ghost Train" is now playing at the Star Theatre, on its second local release. Jack Hulbert and Cicely Courtneidge are in the leading roles and both supply much laughter.

Hulbert and the carefree detective is excellent, while good work is also done by Donald Calthrop and Ann Todd in the supporting cast. Recommended!

OFFICIAL SOURCES.

"CRACKED NUTS"—QUEEN'S THEATRE.

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey are the co-stars of Radio Pictures' rollicking comedy success "Cracked Nuts," opening on Sunday at the Queen's Theatre.

"Cracked Nuts" is a jovial story of the adventures of two young Americans who vie for the crown of a mythical kingdom. Their chief drawback to fame is an army of ambitious executioners who could behead both for a plugged American dime.

ARSON SUSPECTED IN BIG BLAZE.

Densely Populated Area Threatened.

Arson is suspected to be the cause of a fire that broke out in one of the most thickly populated areas of Mongkok late last night, when four fuel godowns were totally destroyed. Suspicion is placed on a dismissed foh. The Mongkok station had the call about 10.30 o'clock and found the buildings well alight at the corner of Reclamation and Canton streets. All available fire engines were sent out, in addition to the fire float. The brigade was responsible for good work in confining the flames to the godowns, as the buildings were surrounded by high tenements.

Fascism Contrasted To Bolshevism.

The Italian Government has been first to accept the British suggestion that Germany's withdrawal from the Disarmament Conference should be considered
in London by Britain, France, Germany, and Italy, and the Fascist system, not for the first time, has shown a spirit of strong common sense. It has often been asserted that Fascism
is simply "Bolshevism turned inside out"—the meaning of
which seems to be that Italy represents a socialistic community
controlled by the Right Wing instead of the Left. A certain family resemblance, of course exists among all forms of organised government. There is not one, for example, which does not rely, in the last resort, on force for its maintenance—a fact which many gentle idealists are slow to grasp. When they do grasp it in any particular case they are quick to condemn. Mussolini, who does not cut himself off
from his people as Stalin does,
is then classed with the despots,
and his methods declared to be those of the Soviet. Only a very loose generalisation could fail to perceive the differences, which far outweigh the likeness. In reality, between Rome and Moscow a great gulf is fixed,
a spiritual gulf which
no mere machinery can bridge.
A capital definition of the Fascist ideals was expressed
recently by Dr. H. M. Moran,
who met Mussolini while in Italy,
and at every point it presents Fascism as Bolshevism's direct opposite. "Fascism," said Dr.
Moran, "denies the material aim
of mere economic peace and happiness, considering that the realisation of mere material well-being would convert men into mere animals." (Complete rebuttal there of the Marxian
creed, and of the ultra-utilitarian lines along which the rulers of Russia are now striving to outdo
the harshest forms of capi-
the traveller, "affirms the ir-

remediable inequality of men,
who cannot be levelled by some mechanical means such as universal suffrage. The State is a spiritual and moral force." The State is a spiritual and moral force. In that last sentence,
were there nothing more,
Moscow is challenged and defied.

From one extreme to another,
history swings. The unchecked individualism which had such large scope during the nineteenth century accomplished a great deal of good, but had seeds of much evil in it. Itself a reaction from ages of restraint, it in turn produced the natural rebound. In the last decade half a dozen nations have reverted to rule by authority instead of rule
by supposed consent. The most ruthless example of this is Russia, which offers an extreme abhorrent even to those who see
most clearly the need for discipline. The remaker of modern Italy saw that part at least of this reversion was justified.

"The world has heard 'too much about liberty,'" said Mussolini
some two or three years ago—
and the demagogues are daily
adding to the evidence which supports that truth. But Fascism has stopped far short of a crushing uniformity. It has striven, as both its precepts and its actions show, to make a blend of all that is best in the individualist and the collectivist conceptions. Is there not much reason for supposing that, so far
at least as Italy herself is concerned, the Fascist regime has produced the happy medium? The world as a whole little knew, and has already forgotten how parlous was the condition of Italy
just at the close of the war. Industry was approaching a standstill, anarchy reigned. To-day, without any violent upheaval the country presents a picture of well-regulated prosperity. Lawlessness has been suppressed,
and the people have learned as never before that sense of order
so doubly necessary in a crowded land. Much, that has been done is offensive to those schools
which prefer a formula to visible results. But, preserved from violent changes, the nation
stands to-day an undeniable asset on the side of true civilisation. There is more of contrast than of resemblance to Russia in all this. Notice further, how that contrast works itself out
even in apparent contradictions.
Italy, admitting, and proclaiming spiritual and moral realities, finds herself blessed, with no small measure of material prosperity.
Russia, avowedly pursuing only materialistic aims, can neither
feed nor clothe her hapless
people on a scale approaching the level of European comfort. The machine, though made a deity,
cannot even reward its worshippers with the sole kind of blessing they expect. It seems a hard fate to give up everything

HERE. THERE and EVERYWHERE.

Hitler Stops Football Match.

Herr Hitler, accused even by his admirers of lacking the Mussolini spirit, has been demonstrating his power in a new quarter.

By threats of Nazi violence he has succeeded in cancelling the great inter-city "Soester" match between Dresden and Prague.

The game was to have been played
at Dresden, but as the Czechoslovak Government has recently condemned seven German-Bohemian
Nazis for plotting against the State,
Herr Hitler has decided that the Czechs are not fit opponents for Germans.

Both the German and the Czech football associations tried hard to bring the match off, even appealing to Berlin for adequate protection. As the police were unable to give the requisite guarantee, the Czechs, not wishing to play in a half-storm beer mugs, remained at home.

Rossetti A Poet And Brute

Story Of Martyrdom Of His Wife

NEVER SAW HER GRAVE

(By Howard Spring.)

On February 12, 1862, an inquest was held on Elizabeth "Eleanor" Rossetti, who had died the day before.

Swinburne had discovered a new restaurant, and had asked Dante Gabriel Rossetti to come along and dine with him, bringing his wife.
The restaurant was in the Leicestersquare region. Rossetti's wife was "queer" in the cab on the way to keep the appointment, and the dinner was a bit of a fiasco. Swinburne had had something to drink before the Rossettis got there; Elizabeth scolded him; Rossetti was displeased
with Elizabeth, and took her home
early. They lived at Blackfriars—at 14, Chatham-place—round about blotted out so many landmarks.

They didn't quarrel in the cab on the way home, but there was a coldness. Elizabeth at once began to undress, and Gabriel said sulkily that he was going out. Then, as he went, the storm broke. Elizabeth hung over the banisters and shrieked and shrieked. "Go, then, and you'll kill this baby as you killed the last!" She had had a still-born child.

He came back a few hours later and found her dead. But everything went well at the inquest. It was known that Mrs. Rossetti a consumptive whose health was dreadfully undermined, had been taking laudanum, and when Rossetti and Swinburne and the landlady and others had given evidence a verdict
was returned that an accidental
overdose of the drug had caused her death.

Her Farewell Note.

But one piece of evidence did not come out at the inquest. Ford Madox Brown found pinned on the dead woman's nightdress a piece of paper on which was written: "My life is so miserable I wish for no
more of it."

That is the sentence which Violet Hunt puts on the title-page of "The Wife of Rossetti: Her Life and Death" (The Bodley Head, 18s.
net), written, she tells us, from "sources that are chiefly oral, from
the circumstances of my childhood
and early girlhood spent so much in the company of the actors in the scenes I am attempting to describe."

An episode which has become famous in its way followed the finding of the coroner's jury. When Elizabeth lay in her coffin Rossetti
came into a room where his relatives
and friends were gathered, carrying the little green book in which he had written "The Blessed Damozel" and his other poems. He made for the bedroom, beckoning Swinburne
to follow him, and saying, "I have often been working at these poems
while she was ill and suffering, and I might have been attending to her,
and now they shall go." In the bedroom he "lifted the tiny, thin,
lace-bordered napkin that undertakers bring to cover the face, and laid the book on the left side, between her hair and her cheek, sedulously averting his eyes, like a child that has been scolded."

"Sedulously averting his eyes" was the suggestion that Rossetti could not look his dead wife in the face—
is Miss Hunt's contribution to this matter and comment upon it. She adds: "Gabriel never saw her grave,
and left instructions that he was not to be buried in Highgate Cemetery in any circumstances
whatever."

Stagecraft.

She says, too, that all Rossetti's
group knew his poems by heart.
The midnight exhumation, years
later, would appear to have been a bit of unnecessary stagecraft.

Where did Rossetti go to when
he fled down the stairs that winter
night with his wife's malediction
rigging in his ears? Madox Brown says Miss Hunt "thought it was to Wapping." Wapping was the place where Rossetti's mistress lived—
that bouncing, lively, illiterate
Fanny Hughes—with the full white throat, flung back, lusty and fierce.

"Fanny," says Miss Hunt, "was the only person that Gabriel knew well enough to leave thus cavalierly
whilst half the love-night was still unspent." A comment not easy to reconcile with what one would expect of the circumstances.

It is a sad and piteous tale that Miss Hunt unfolds, a felon blow to the placid acceptance of Rossetti's
as a noble love. Elizabeth Siddall,
whom all her friends called Lizzy,
worked in a hat shop. She first came to Rossetti as a model. Her family claimed antiquity, but they were down in the world. Lizzy was "more handsome than pretty, tall
without being weedy, with big white
arms and neck almost too columnar.
Her eyes were blue, the colour of agate, and prominent, so that she could not have worn a veil without fretting the lids." Rossetti raved about her red hair. She was a great reader and something of an artist.

Rossetti knew her for ten years before he married her. She became his pupil as well as his model.
"Living in rooms by herself, spending the rest of her time in company with one man, closeted alone with him for hours, for days, for nights,
using his chambers when he was away, sleeping in his bed, yet unable to point to a ring on her third finger."

Avoided Marriage.

His friends and hers tried ever
and again to bring him to the scratch, but for ten years he shied away. He would do anything for her but marry her: send her on holidays when she was ill, fit her up with a cottage at Hampstead, and almost always at someone else's expense. They quarrelled like cat and dog, bringing on paroxysms of her illness, and then the sight of her sickness nauseated him, putting the thought of marriage farther off than ever.

He borrowed remorselessly from Madox Brown, and seemed to think it but his due that Mrs. Brown should be dragged back from a much-needed holiday to look after Lizzy, reduced to accustomed wreckage after another scene. He began to take a livelier interest in Lizzy's
art when Ruskin gave her a fixed income on condition that she went on painting, but his interest waned
when the subsidy ceased.

At long last he married her, and she found herself "a daughter of Heath, married into an alien tribe."
Old Mrs. Rossetti and the frustrate Christina and her sister Maggie
would not cross her doorstep, though Christina sent the happy couple a wastepaper basket a year after the wedding.

Nothing From Marriage.

Whatever Elizabeth Siddall had hoped to get out of the marriage
for which she had longed so intensely, she soon found that she was to get nothing at all. She sank down into a drugged peace, cheered a little towards the end by the devotion of the boy Swinburne, who would come to see her where she sat with her laudanum bottle and her crazily
cooing doves hanging in wicker baskets round the room that looked out on the miasmal Thames. Later, when the dead child was born, she would sit there rocking the empty cradle, while in the outer room her husband made merry with his friends "and countesses rolled in their carriages to Blackfriars to see the Pre-Raphaelites in their habitat."

Gabriel was busy with his Fanny;
he hadn't much time now for Madox Brown, grown a little seedy and gouty; but Brown, an angel of forbearance all through the tragic tale,
had a last service to perform when he helped the shattered Gabriel to pull himself together and concoct a tale for the jury.

One feels all through the reading of Miss Hunt's story as though the bluff that came off then has been coming off too consistently ever since; as though we shall all have to make some readjustment in our view of Rossetti. May so much, after all,
be forgiven a man for the sake of
a few pictures and a few fine lines?
We close the book with Browning's guttural in our ear: "I never can forgive Rossetti!"

it. "After the girls were gone, he went into his workshop, where Olga heard him walking up and down, and every now and then chuckling to himself; and that night he talked to her a good deal about dancing and dancing men—asked what they usually said and did—what dances were most popular—what steps were gone through, with many other questions bearing on the subject.

"Then for a couple of weeks he kept much to his factory, and was very thoughtful and busy, though prone at unexpected moments to break into a quiet low laugh, as if enjoying a joke that nobody else knew of.

"A month later another ball took place in Furtwangen. On this occasion it was given by old Wenzel, the wealthy timber merchant, to celebrate his niece's betrothal, and Gelbel and his daughter were again among the invited.

"When the hour arrived to set out, Olga sought her father. Not finding him in the house, she tapped at the door of his workshop. He appeared in his shirt-sleeves looking hot but radiant.

Captain Scuttle's Yachting Notes

THE Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club commence their season this afternoon, with the Opening Cruise, which bids fair to be one of the best functions in recent years. Conditions for sailing are ideal, and if the fresh north-easter continues, excellent times should be returned. The rowing events, too, should prove to be exceptionally interesting, and from the form shown by the various crews, who have been assiduously training during the past month, it should be the best display seen in local waters.

THERE are twenty-four entries in the first event on the programme, which is for Combined English and Chinese Riggered cruisers, the distance being two and a quarter miles. The start is from Murray Pier Line proceeding in an easterly direction to Cast Rock. The race will commence at 2 p.m., and the preparation gun will be fired five minutes before the starting gun. U and I, which won the championship in the Cruiser class last season, with the Vice Commodore, Mr. H. S. Rouse and Mrs. Rouse at the helm, is among the favourite starters this afternoon, her closest rival being Iala, which will be sailed by Major G. E. Grenadale, Iala, which came second in the championship was owned last year by Lieut. Anstruther, R.E., who this afternoon is sailing Candela, a newcomer to the field.

Monsoon, which was purchased by Messrs. H. W. Duley and R. Grieve recently, is among the starters, while the new Commodore of the Yacht Club, Mr. A. L. Shields, partnered by Mr. I. W. Shevan will sail Luana. Sea Larks, another addition to the Cruiser Class will be sailed by Mr. E. Cock, manager of the Kowloon Docks, while Dr. Tottenham will be sailing Lillette.

Other entries for the event are: Azuma (F. B. Lambert), Brenda (E. F. V. Jensen), La Sigale (N. V. A. Croucher), Norseman (L. N. Ryan and L. F. Nicholson), Irene (S. Berg), Typhoon (Capt. C. C. Fowkes, S.W.B.), Curlew (Major J. H. Mousley, R.E.), Wanderer (F. Baker), Sea Rover (Rev. G. T. Waldegrave), West Wing (G. G. Wood), Cherub (V. Goulburn), Dorothea II (F. S. Carter and W. Kay), Imogen (D. Marshall and F. Manning), Chinook (Capt. E. M. Bolt, R.A.), and Tavy II (W. R. Officers, Tamar).

OF great interest will be the second and third events on the programme, the Handicap Class and the Cue Design, Heyward Hayes and Guel Glasses, both of which are for ladies over five mile courses. The yachts are all racing, yachts, and thrilling races should be the outcome. Diana, Colleen, Bella, Falcon, Eiskin, Norena, Argulla II, and

Dorothea have been entered in the former event, while entries in the latter event are as follows:—Daphne, Ailsa, April the Fifth, Why Wonder, Wings, Bluejacket, Boojum, Speedwell, Adanac (owned by Commodore Wynham Lawrie) Gael, Toyette (owned by Miss Patchett) Eunice, Joan, Zephyr, Lola and Owl.

EVENT four on the programme will witness the first appearance in races of the new Anker Class—yachts, built locally by the Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd. The yachts, ten in number, will have their owners at the tiller, and an interesting race is expected. Carpenter, named after the former energetic Commodore of the Yacht Club (Mr. E. W. Carpenter, O.B.E.) is among the entries, others being Oslo (M. Berguett), Waspi II (Major Thoyts and Major Griffin of the Lincolns), Artemis (Commander J. B. Newell, R.N.), La Linda (Mr. A. L. Shields), Commodore Jan (J. Krogh-Moe), Isobel (Commander W. G. Cowland and Dr. Davis), Joss (K. Larsen), Gull (B. Naess), Cicada (N. V. A. Croucher).

The course covers a distance of 6.2 miles, but before the commencement of the race, which is timed to start at 3.20 p.m. it is at the discretion of the Officers of the Day to shorten the course to 4.4 miles by the elimination of Kowloon Rock in the course. There are no handicaps in this event.

IN connection with the opening cruise of the Yacht Club the first rowing regatta of the season will also take place, and the event will also be of interest in the programme of four events is the Hornell Cup for Hong Fours, over a distance of one mile. The Civil Service, Hong Kong Bank, Ewo and the Hong Kong Electric have entered the event, and indications point to the Ewo crew being hot favourites. They have retained the trophy for two seasons, and they have in H. W. Duley, M. L. Radlton, and R. D. J. Grieve, three members of their last victorious team. I. G. Allison will be their cox this afternoon, while P. L. Leefe, a newcomer, will stroke.

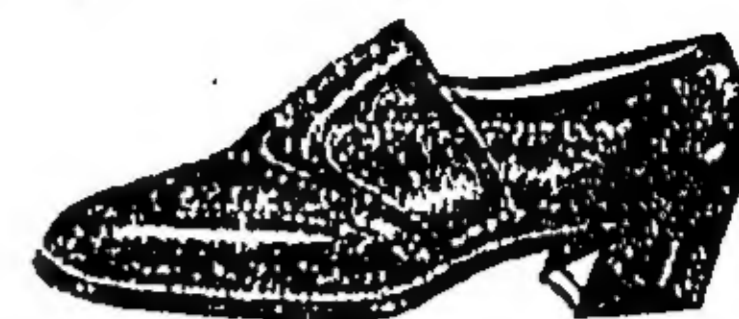

PROBABLY the strongest physically of the four crews, the Hong Kong Bank will be represented by R. A. Fawcett (Cox), C. Law (No. 2) and R. Stillard (No. 3).

The other crews will be as follows:—Civil Service—H. J. Pearce (Cox), W. Kerr (Stroke), G. Heywood (Bow), E. S. Carter (No. 2), W. R. Andrews (No. 3). Electric—E. Thompson (Cox), G. G. Stopall-Thomson (Stroke), W. Stoker (Bow), R. W. Smith (No. 2), M. H. Arnold (No. 3).

OFFSIDE PLAY.

[By CENTRE HALF.]

Frequency of offside and over-indulgence in dribbling, instead of passing quickly, robbed the Radio Sports Club of a convincing victory over the R.A.M.C. in a Mamak Tournament match played at Caroline Hill yesterday afternoon. The Radio won by only two clear goals, both of which were scored in the first half, Gurbachan Singh and Kalwant Singh each claiming one.

In the second half, the Radio failed to score, Captain Gore keeping a splendid goal for the Medical Corps. He was their mainstay in defence.

The Radio will have to look to their laurels when they meet the strong Medway Combination at Caroline Hill this afternoon. On yesterday's showing, it would not be surprising if the Medway claim the points.

WIN FOR SIGNALS.

In another Mamak match played at Sookunpoo yesterday afternoon the Royal Corps of Signals, who have been showing much improved form lately, defeated the 12th Battery, R.A. by the only goal.

The score sheet was blank at the interval. In the second half, after pressing for some considerable time, the Signals netted through Lt. Whiteway-Wilkinson and won the game.

PHOENIX CRY OFF.

The third Mamak match arranged between the Incognitos, who have not been defeated this season, and H.M.S. Phoenix, to be played on the Naval ground, was postponed the Naval team being unable to field a team on account of a sudden call to proceed to Swatow.

MIRACULOUS SAVES FEATURE FINAL INTERPORT SOCCER TRIAL

ALLAN AND PARDOE IMPRESS

Rodger Saves Two Penalties

But Colony XI Lose To The Rest

LAM TIN-CHAN BRILLIANT

PROBABLES OUTCLASSED IN ALL DEPARTMENTS.

(By Outside Left.)

H.E. the Officer Administering the Government, the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, kicks off at the final Interport soccer trial yesterday at the Valley. (Ying Ming.)

THE final interport soccer trial took place on the Club ground at Happy Valley yesterday, before the Officer Administering the Government, the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, and a very large crowd of spectators.

Contrary to expectations, the Probables Interport team were completely outclassed in almost all departments of the game, being defeated by two goals to one in a one-sided game.

The Probables were lucky to get away with such a small margin of goals against them, for they were twice penalised, both efforts of which were followed by the brilliancy of Rodger in goal, who stopped both "spot kicks" in addition to giving a magnificent display between the sticks.

One of the greatest surprises of the day was the failure of the Mullane and Strange partnership, although it must be said, that the latter played a strenuous game, but received little support from his colleague, who had a definite off day.

The Probables' halves, Bliss Wong Mei-shun and A. Duncan also played hard games, but were outshone by their opposing halves, who played one of the finest games of combination.

The Probables forwards were a definite failure where football was concerned. First of all there were only two men who made anything of their efforts; they were Suen Kam-shun and B. Gosano. The former played a sterling game and was responsible for the Probables' only goal, and it was a good effort. The latter was slightly off colour in the first half, but pulled round in the second half when he put in some beautiful centres and made many openings.

MILITARY WING FAILS. Howe, who has already been chosen to represent the Colony side in the centre forward position was the most notable failure on the field. He lost opportunities time after time and bungled many others. His main fault lay in his slowness; he had many a good chance of having a shot at goal, but was intent in taking the ball into the actual goal mouth to lose it invariably.

The Jones and Baldry combination was another failure, the former player was completely helpless and at times was a passenger, and the latter's fault lay in his fruitless attempts to walk the ball into the goal.

The feature of the game was the brilliant exhibition of Allan, who played at right back for the Rest, and was the biggest thorn in the Probables' attack. He gave a great display of defensive tactics, and should certainly be included in the Interport team.

Lau Mau, the other back, also played a splendid game, his first-time clearances arousing tremendous applause from the crowd.

PARDOE IMPRESSES Pardoe comes second for performance. His display in the pivot position was great and he justly earned the position of centre-half for the Probables' team. His strategy was excellent and he led his men with all the powers he possessed, and they responded splendidly. He is unfortunate to be up against such a good man as Barber for the position.

Both Tong Kwan and Leung Wing-chui played excellent games and completely outclassed the play of the Probables' halves, Tong Kwan being particularly useful, using his head to advantage. His feeding of his forwards will be remembered for some time, and his spilling tactics, which very often robbed Howe of scoring opportunities, also stood out.

The whole of the Rest forward line was good, and they exhibited excellent combination. The most dangerous combination on the field was the Bryant and Cheng Shui-hong one. It proved a continued source of danger to the Probables, and was responsible for some of the prettiest moves seen in the game.

Last but not least was the brilliant goal-keeping of Lam Tin-chen, whose performance equalled that of Rodger, only he had much less to do. The number of times he stopped drives from almost point blank range was amazing, the saves, some of them spectacular, bringing all round applause from his Chinese supporters.

THE PLAY From the whistle the Rest took the play into their opponents' half but Strange came to the rescue, robbing Bryant of the ball.

Wong gained possession and raced away to sent the ball forward to Gosano. The winger outpaced Tong Kwan to centre straight to Howe's feet, but the Probable centre forward was too slow and missed a perfect sitter.

From the goal kick play was transferred to the other end where Cheng put in a lovely centre to Bryant, who tapped the ball to JOHNSON for the Rest's centre forward to open the scoring with a high, pile-driver which had Rodger beaten all the way.

Encouraged by their success the Rest again took play into the Probables' half, but Bliss intervened and sent Suen away. The inside right dribbled clean through the Rest's defence to send in a terrific drive which all thought would find the net, but Lam Tin-chen gathered amidst tremendous applause.

HIS EXCELLENCY WINS MATCH BALL

Raffle Realised Over $90.

The ball which was used in the game was raffled in aid of the Poppy Day Fund and was won by H. E. the Officer Administering the Government, the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern.

The total collection from this raffle amounted to over $90.

The gate proceeds are also to be given to the Poppy Day Fund and should amount to a large sum.

LAM'S BRILLIANT SAVE

Play, however, was still in the Rest's goalmouth and Baldry sent over a fine centre which Howe slammed in from point blank range, but Lam again came to the fore with a brilliant save. Howe, however, was ruled offside.

The free kick saw the ball travel to the other end where Rawson fed Duncan for the latter to send in a terrific drive, which Rodger managed to deflect for a fruitless corner. The Probables were having some of the play at this period, but in spite of three good openings failed to take their opportunities.

With the ball in Pardoe's possession the Rest gave a really first-class display of attack; the pivot sent the ball to Rawson who in turn tapped it to Johnson, the latter slamming in a hard drive which Rodger went down at full length to turn round the upright. From the corner kick, Bryant headed over, narrowly missing the net.

The goal kick saw the ball in Bliss's possession but his forward pass was intercepted by Allan, whose first-time clearances were excellent.

SUEN ROBBED

Midway through the first half Suen made a fine dribble clean through the Rest's defence, the only time he got past Allan. He took the ball into the goalmouth, but was robbed in time by Lam Tin-chen, the Chinese custodian coming out to gather as Suen let drive. Lam cleared amid tremendous applause.

The Probables now and then managed to get the ball, but the Baldry-Jones combination, and Howe bungled all the attacks.

At this stage of the game the Rest lost a man in Rawson, who in an attempt to head the ball was pushed in the face by Wong Mei-shun, and was forced to leave the field. He came back, however, but was a passenger until after the interval.

Just before the interval Lam Tin-chen gave a marvellous exhibition of goal-keeping when he dived at full length across the goalmouth to turn a drive from Gosano to Howe, and then scrambling up, gathered Howe's return shot.

REST TWO UP

A few minutes later the Rest amazed the crowd when they went further ahead netting through BRYANT. The Rest had forced a corner and Cheng, taking the kick, hit the left upright for Rodger to push away to Bryant; the latter, being unmarked, scored easily.

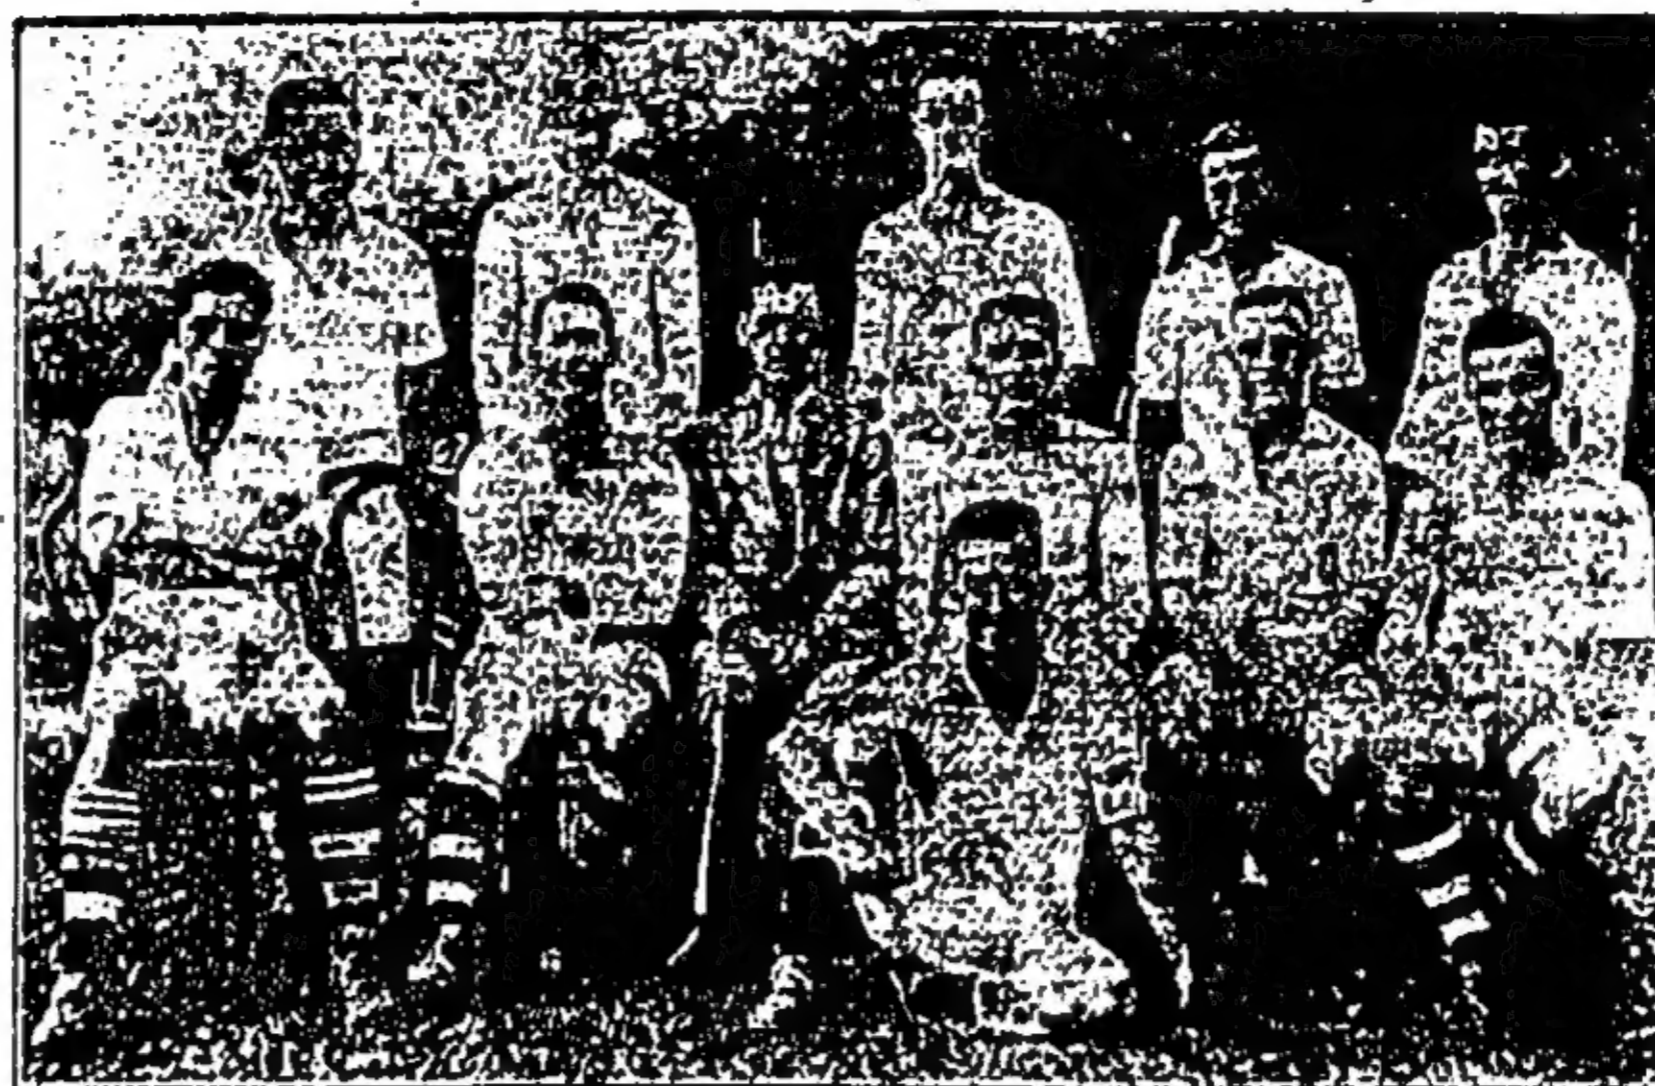

Cheng came into the limelight at this period with a series of fine dribbles and runs down the touch-line, but his efforts proved fruitless, Strange and Duncan being too much for him.

Just before the whistle blew, Leung Wing-chui sent in a terrific drive, which beat Rodger all the way, but which unluckily struck the cross bar for Mullane to clear.

Half-time—Probables 0, Rest 2.

The start of the second half saw the Probables on the attack, but Wong, instead of passing to Suen, who was unmarked, took a long drive, which just missed the net.

Five minutes later Gosano put Howe in possession with only Lau Mau to beat, but the latter was

VICTORIA ALL OUT FOR 231 AGAINST M.C.C.

Eight Wickets Fall For 141 Runs.

ALLEN AND VOCE.

Melbourne, Yesterday. At the close of play today the M.C.C. touring eleven were 190 runs behind Victoria's first innings total of 231 with 8 wickets in hand.

The sky was cloudy, but the wicket perfect when Victoria opened their innings before 3,000 spectators. At lunch two wickets had fallen for 90 runs, including W. M. Woodfull, the Australian captain.

The "Aussie" player who was known as "the unbowlable" while touring England in 1928, was dismissed for 5.

After lunch a crowd of 16,000 saw Victoria's innings close for 231 before the attack of G. O. Allen (4 for 45) and Voce (4 for 55). Oakley was the only batsman after lunch to show any degree of confidence, and in his undefeated innings of 88, scored in 120 minutes, were eight boundary hits. The feature of his innings was his cutting and driving powers.

The tourists lost G. O. Allen (15) and the Nawab of Pataudi (6) for 41 runs before the close of play. Reuter.

THREE SIXES FOR LAY

Club Attack Collared In Great Style.

K.C.C. 54 RUNS AHEAD WITH 5 WICKETS TO FALL.

Another "fireworks" display by A. T. Lay and a fifth wicket partnership between E. F. Fincher and N. A. E. Mackay which realised 76 runs placed the Kowloon Cricket Club in a very satisfactory position against the Club at the conclusion of yesterday's play at the H.K.C.C.

The mainlanders are 54 runs ahead with half their wickets in hand. The match will be continued at 2 p.m. today.

E. R. Duckitt played an enterprising knock for his 30, which included six boundaries, and J. P. Whitham hit five boundaries and a glorious six over the pavilion, in his innings for 34.

A. T. Lay, who has displayed brilliant form this season, scored 50 off the Club attack in just under half an hour. Included in his hurricane knock were six boundaries and three sixes. He scored 31 out of 34 and 50 out of 68.

E. F. Fincher in scoring 73 not out hit eight boundaries and looks well set for his first century of the season. N. A. E. Mackay included six boundaries in a bright innings of 40.

THE FIRST CENTURY

Patterson's 134 Not Out Includes 24 4's.

SMITH TAKES 8 FOR 51 IN INNINGS OF 310.

R. S. W. Patterson has the distinction of scoring the first century of the season. At the K.C.C. yesterday he rattled up 134 not out to enable the Club second eleven to total 310. Included in his innings were no fewer than twenty-four boundary hits. In partnership with J. E. Potter he helped to put on 161 for the ninth wicket, Potter contributing a hard-hit 50, which included a six and five boundaries.

F. S. W. Smith, the K.C.C. skipper, was again the mainstay of his side, capturing 8 wickets for 51 runs in 19.1 overs, and contributing 26 not out to a total of 52 for 6 wickets.

L. D. Kilbee hit eight boundaries in his innings for 45 runs, and A. D. Lowson followed up his 9 for 21 against the Recreation on Saturday by capturing 4 of the 6 wickets which fell for only 13 runs.

At the close of play the K.C.C. were 258 runs in arrears with only four wickets in hand. The match will be resumed to-day at 2 p.m.

Golf Notes

By "Divot"

MANY interesting matches are down for decision to-morrow when the result of the first round of the Club Championship of the Kowloon Golf Club will leave eight players to advance to the Second Round.

The draw has resulted in a fairly even distribution of the players with the majority of the lower handicap competitors confined to the bottom half.

If G. H. Russell keeps up his present form he has every chance of going through to the Final, but will probably have a tough nut to crack if he runs up against D. C. Wilson or W. S. Hillier in the later rounds.

F. E. A. Remedios, last year's winner, should overcome his first hurdle and will meet Dr. J. E. H. Cogan or A. A. Lopes in the Second Round. These two players met in the early stages of last year's championship and Lopes secured the victory; history may repeat itself, but it will be one of the best matches in the First Round.

THE match between J. D. Thomson and J. MacKnight should be another good game with the chances fairly even, but slightly in favour of MacKnight.

Thomson has not been playing very sound golf lately and his 89 in the qualifying round was not too convincing for an ex-champion.

It is difficult to pick out those who will enter the Second Round of the Championship, as the game with the "wee ba," is on many occasions full of the unexpected, but I will not be far out if I predict the following players to enter the Second Round:—G. H. Russell, D. C. Wilson, W. S. Hillier, H. H. Mundy, F. E. A. Remedios, A. A. Lopes, J. MacKnight and A. T. Braley.

IT was quite a change to read in the press of a British (Navy) golf win over an American (Navy) team at Fanling last Monday, admitted the players concerned were not of the Ryder Cup standard, but I gather they all thoroughly enjoyed the game and the day at Fanling.

Perhaps our American visitors were enchanted with the course and its surrounding beauty, and failed to concentrate, as their countryman Sarazen so strongly recommends.

THE following is the draw for the first round of the Club Championship of the Kowloon Golf Club, which will be decided to-morrow:

G. H. Russell (74) v. J. McKelvie (83)
D. C. Wilson (80) v. G. Mingo (84)
W. Taylor (84) v. W. S. Hillier (82)
H. H. Mundy (80) v. P. W. J. Planner (81)

F. E. A. Remedios (77) v. Dr. J. E. H. Cogan (80) v. A. A. Lopes (81)

J. D. Thomson (89) v. J. MacKnight (83)

A. T. Braley (80) v. G. D. Reid (85)

A Healthy Appetite

A sure sign of the strengthening influence of Sanatogen is the remarkably quick return of a healthy appetite. And no wonder! For the invigorating influence of Sanatogen on all the organs of your body and especially on those nerves which regulate the functions of the stomach and intestines, make it an ideal strengthening food when loss of appetite is the trouble.

Give Sanatogen a trial — you will be surprised at its invigorating influence.

12th BIRTHDAY.

An At Home to parents and friends, and a display of Scoutcraft, will be given by the 1st Kowloon Troop (St. Andrew's)
of Boy Scouts in St. Andrew's Church grounds at 8 p.m. this afternoon. The display will take place on the Vicarage lawn,
which has kindly been placed at the disposal of the Scouts by the troop Chaplain, the Rev. W.
Walton Rogers.

The proceedings will be under the direction of the Scoutmaster,
Mr. R. Dornier, assisted by Mr.
R. H. Wong, A.S.M., and the senior Patrol Leaders.

The programme will open with ordinary Scout work, this including tenderfoot work, and second class. Patrols will then compete

in First aid tests for the Barnes Cup Competition, after which
there will be erection of tents and fire-lighting. This will be followed by a kimagame for old Scouts present to participate,
after which the lady visitors will be asked to take part in a parcel wrapping competition.

SCOUTS AT CENOTAPH.

Yesterday, Armistice Day, a party of Scouts representing the Sea Scouts, Hong Kong and Kowloon sections, were present at the Cenotaph. They were under the charge of Mr. Dornier, District Scoutmaster for Kowloon. Later, a party of Chinese Scouts marched to the Botannical Gardens where they took part in the service, at the Chinese Memorial. Girl Guides were also present at the Cenotaph ceremony, which was most impressive. The Guides were under Mrs. T. H. King.

I get to eighty-five. A Boy

drew the line at that, and said that I was doing my best. Like a good Wolf Cub I shall try and stick it until I am 115, then I shall retire." — Lord Baden-

Long Ago Stories Catherine And Snow Rose

When news reached the castle that the Icelanders had been sighted at sea, Catherine's father, the Duke Robert, commanded his men to go out in his ship and beg the skalds of the icy North to visit him.

"If they be on their way to the King's court, or to the court of France, tell them that I am rich, and more generous than kings," said the Duke. "Tell them that in my grandfather's time they visited this castle and were made welcome."

"Then Catherine saw Snow Rose!"

Catherine was filled with delight. She knew all about the skalds, the learned singers of heroic poems who lived in dark, cold Iceland, and were poorer than any of her father's servants, yet wiser than the greatest men in Europe.

All that summer's day she watched on the castle wall, and towards evening the Icelanders came. She had expected strong, bold, beautiful men, but she saw a quiet band of small people with sad, serious faces. The sun was burning, yet over their clean linen robes they wore white bear skins, and their feet also were bound in skins. With her gold chains rattling about her and her silken gown shimmering, Catherine went with her father to bow before the learned bards of Iceland.

"When our ancestors were savages, theirs were already learned," said the Duke. "The have not a silver penny between them, yet they are respected in every court in Europe when they come to recite their poems and their beautiful thoughts."

Then Catherine saw Snow Rose, and in her joy she ran up to her and took her hand.

"I did not expect to see a maiden!" she cried. "Can you speak my tongue?"

Snow Rose answered in Latin—a language which Catherine understood.

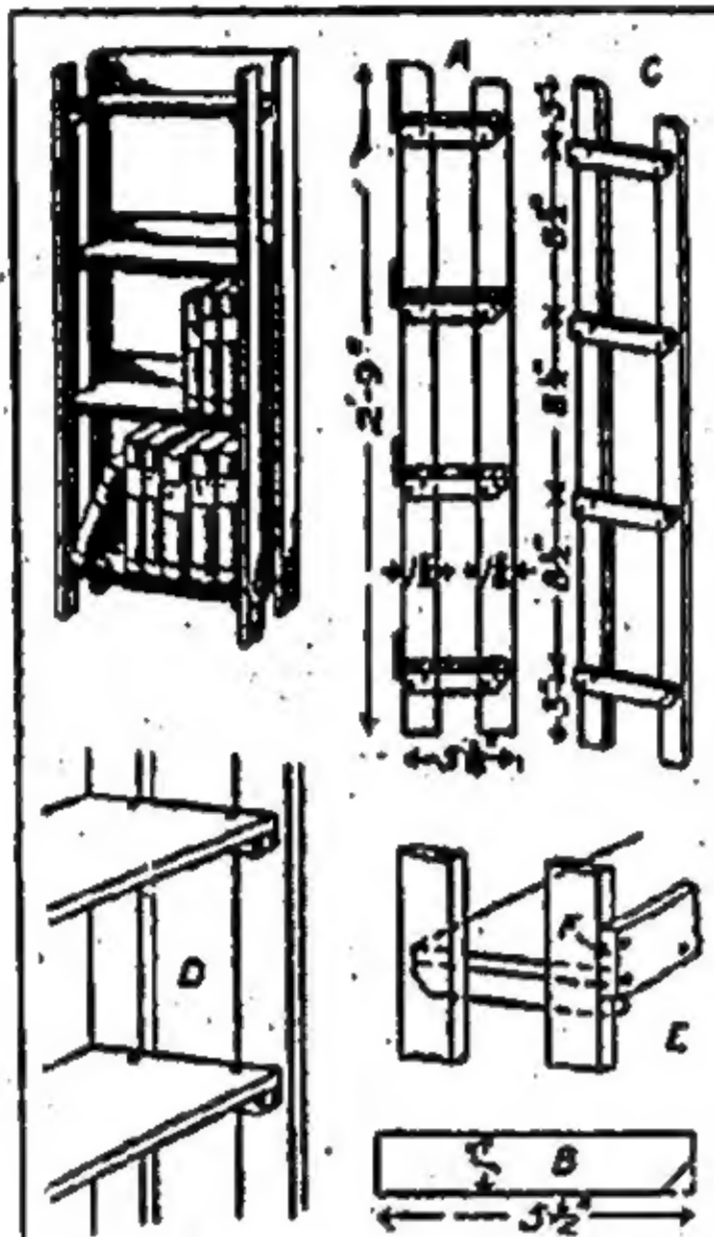

"I have come with my father because I have the voice of a flute," smiled Snow Rose. "But I must weep for delight at the sight of so much beauty."

Snow Rose told Catherine that she had never seen a tree before, nor red strawberries in the grass, nor beautiful flowers, nor a castle of stone, nor a maiden in a silken gown with jewels on her neck. In her country there was only snow, and when the snow melted there was a little grass. Their homes were built of lava cast up by the volcanoes, and for months together it was too dark to go to the school, where Latin, and Greek, and astronomy were taught. Gently Catherine led Snow Rose to the castle wall, and there she took her hand, work-soiled hands, and said:

"Why is it that you possess nothing and yet know more than the people of Europe?"

"Long ago, in the year 875, some men of Norway went to live in Iceland," replied Snow Rose. "They loved learning, and when the days were dark they made poems, and thought, and studied. There was only fish to eat, sometimes a bear, so they killed a patch of the cold earth in summer, and obtained a few sheep. Icelanders have always lived like that, and now we sing to you in order to obtain a few comforts such as clothes and lamps and books."

The little bookstand I am going to tell you about can be made throughout from wood half an inch thick. The four uprights, which form the sides, are one three-quarter inches wide, the back ones being two feet nine inches long and the front pieces one inch shorter. Plane the sides and edges of each of these pieces and round off the top front corners, as shown in diagram A. For supporting the shelves, eight cross-pieces, cut to the sizes given (Diagram B) will be required. Screw four of these cross-pieces to each pair of uprights, carefully spacing them as shown in diagram C. The width over the uprights is five and three-quarter inches, so that the ends of the cross-pieces are a quarter of an inch in from the front edges. Make sure that each cross-piece is square with both uprights.

Perhaps you'd care to make a book-stand like this—ready to present to someone at Christmas? Carpenter explains all about it.

The four shelves, which are twelve inches long and five and a half inches wide, should have the ends planed square. Fix the ends of the shelves to the cross-pieces with nails, as indicated in diagram D.

Four back pieces for the shelves will now be required. Cut these to a length of thirteen inches and a width of two inches, with the exception of the top one, which is one inch wider. The back pieces are screwed to the rear uprights and to the back edges of the shelves, as shown in diagram E.

If the ends of the back pieces are slightly bevelled as at F, they will not show when the bookstand is placed against the wall.

Along the front edges of the shelves, fix strips of three-eighths half-round fancy heading with glue and fine wire brads.

The finished bookstand can be given a coating of light or dark oak varnish stain.

WENDY'S LITTLE DRESSMAKERS.

A Crochet Waistcoat.

This week perhaps you will like to make a little crochet waistcoat to slip over your dress when you feel chilly! You will need about four ounces of four-ply wool in one shade for the main part, and one ounce in a contrasting colour for the trimming.

As you see by the Diagram, the waistcoat is made in three pieces: a back, and two front parts. Start with the back. Make a length of seventy chain, work two chain for turning, then work along the chain in treble stitches till you get to the end. Work two chain for turning, and go back along the line in treble stitches. Two chain for turning, then another row of trebles. And so on, until the back is long enough to reach from just below your waist to your shoulders.

For one front part, make a chain of thirty loops, work two chain for turning, and work back along the row in treble stitches. Two chain for turning at the end, and another row of trebles, just as you did the back. When the right front is as long as the back, sew the two sides together at the sides, stopping seven inches from the shoulders to make the arm-holes.

Now for the contrasting edging. With the other wool work right round the garment, starting at the front corner, going up one front, round the back of the neck, down the other front, round the back, and coming along to the starting-point. Ordinary double crochet is the best stitch to use for the first row, and the next two rows should be done in trebles. Work round each armhole in the same way.

Pockets are strips of treble-crochet, three inches wide and four inches deep, with top edges in the contrasting colour. Sew them firmly in place, stitch a big button on the left front of the waistcoat, and make a corresponding loop on the right front.

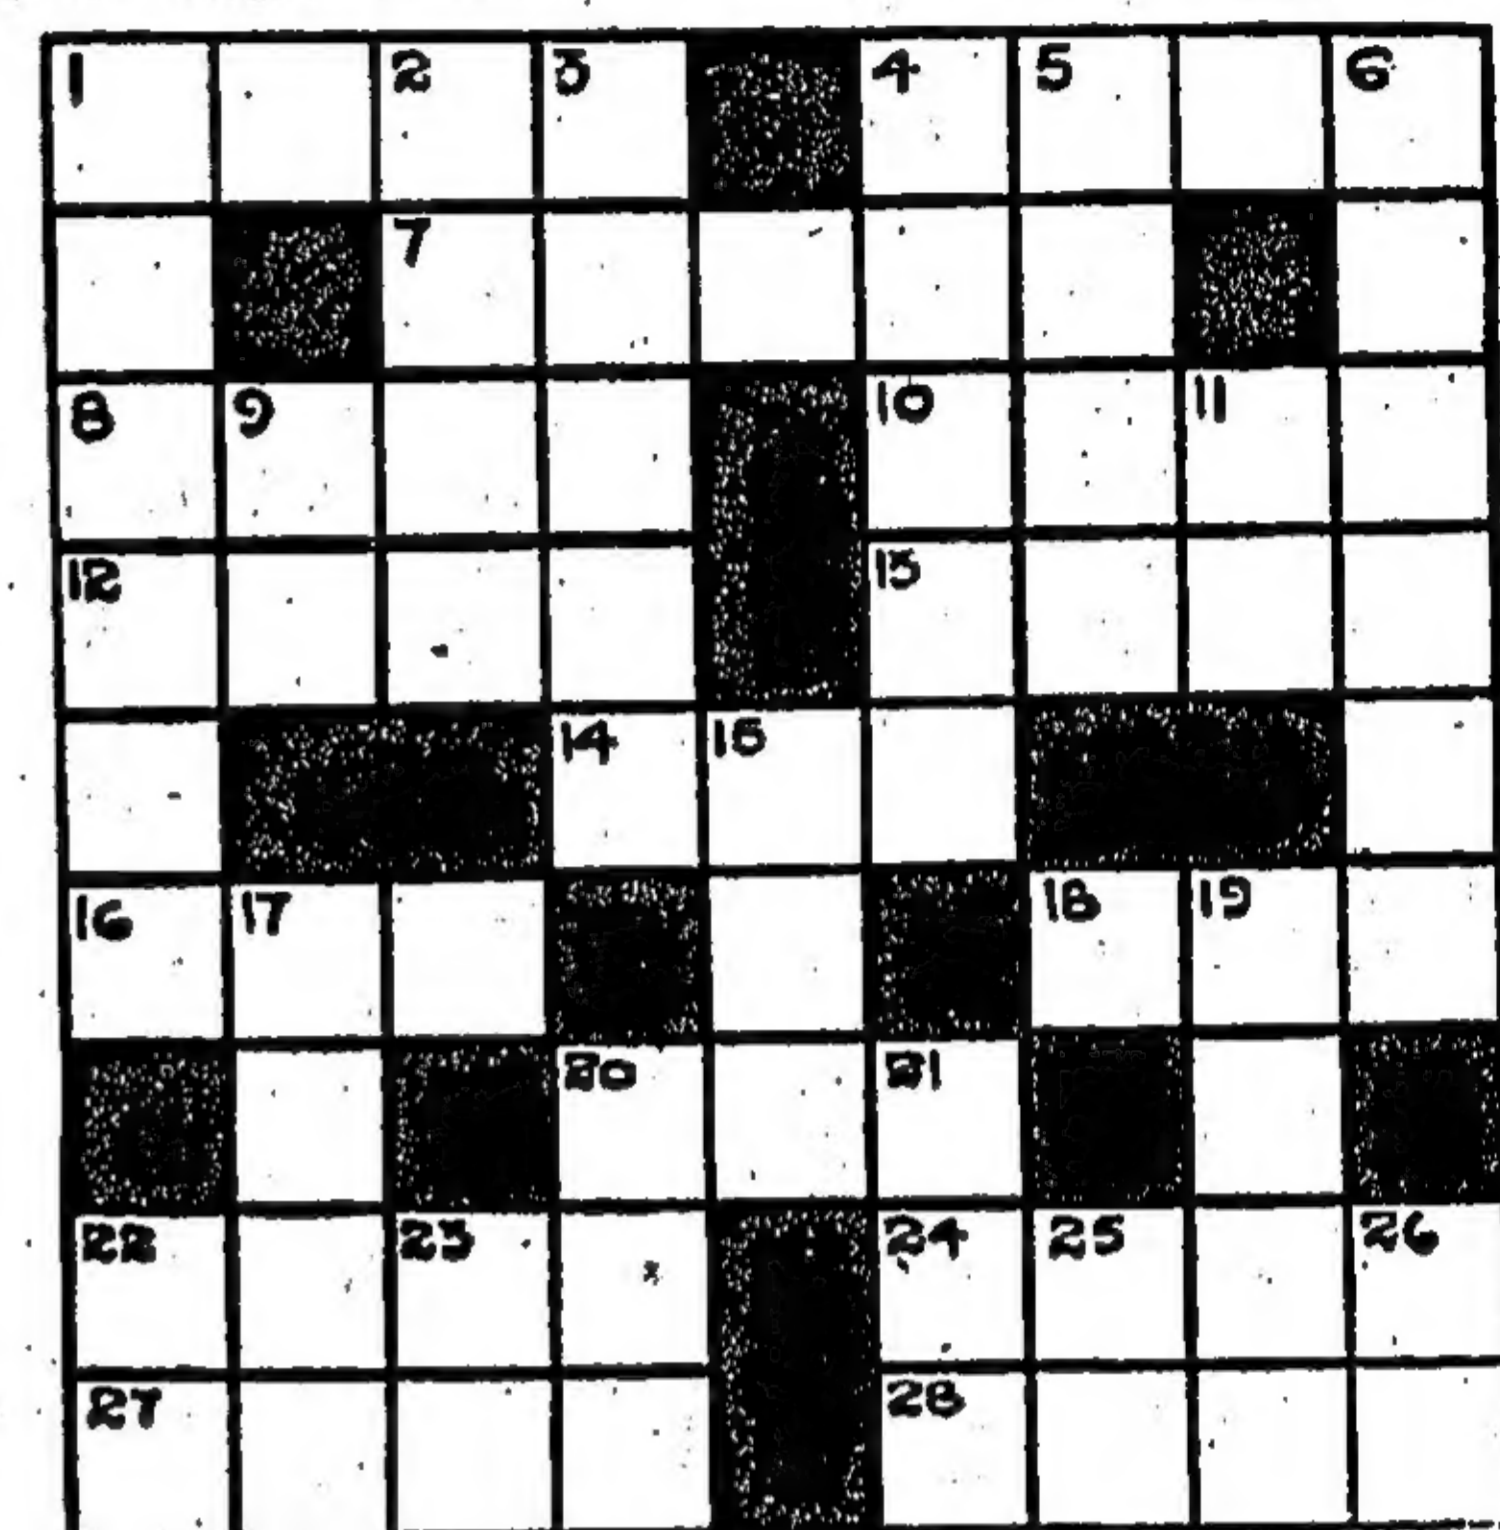

Next week we'll tell you how to make a cap and scarf to match the waistcoat.

Chocolate Delights.

To one breakfastful of castor sugar allow a quarter of a breakfastful of cocoa, and the whites of two eggs. Beat the egg-whites to a stiff froth with a whisk. Then mix the sugar and cocoa together, and add gradually to the eggs, mixing with a fork. Turn the whole on to a board, and knead it with your hands if you are unable to make it into a smooth paste with the fork.

Roll the paste into small balls, put them on greaseproof paper, and bake on a tin in a moderate oven for about ten minutes.

LUXURIOUS VESSEL FOR INDIAN PRINCE.

New Diesel-Engined Yacht Launched.

Messrs. Philip Son, Ltd., Dartmouth, have launched from their Sandquay yard a twin-screw Diesel-engined yacht which they have constructed for His Highness the Maharaja of Kutch, India.

The principal dimensions of yacht are:—Length 100ft., beam 18ft., depth 10½ feet. She is built to Lloyd's survey and classification on their highest grade, and has oak planking and decks on English oak frames and beams, metal fastened throughout and copper sheathed below the water line.

Two saloons are built in the main deck, fitted in polished teak with rexine upholstery, while above these saloons and over the engine-room is a fine promenade deck. On this deck is the steering gear fitted in a teak shelter, and the whole of the decks are protected by canvas awnings. The owner's sleeping accommodation is below the main deck, and finished in white enamel with polished mahogany furniture and fittings. Electric lighting is fitted throughout, the current being generated by a Stuart-Turner set fitted in the engine-room.

The main propelling engines consist of two sets of Gleaner Diesel engines, type D.C. 8, each having eight cylinders, and giving collectively a total brake horse-power of about 300, which will give the yacht a speed of 12 knots.

The machinery is to be installed, and after sea trials to the satisfaction of the owner's representatives, the yacht is to be conveyed to Kutch on the deck of a large steamer fitted with special facilities for lifting such heavy weights. The lifting weight of the yacht complete will be approximately 160 tons.

EXPENSIVE UPKEEP OF LINERS.

$100 Per Day When In Dry Dock.

People often ask why liners are always referred to as "she." Perhaps the reason is not far to seek when one recalls the enormous expense of the upkeep of liners in dry dock! It costs $100 a day to keep one in dry dock, but this figure seems small when compared with the expenses she will incur during her stay. A liner usually spends a fortnight in dry dock each year—a week in spring and a week late in autumn. Everything, however, really depends on the amount of overhauling and repair work to be done. The ship is put in the "garage" and then the costly bills to mount up. First there is the daily rent for using the dock. Next come the dock dues. There are pilot and towing fees to be considered. The hire of cranes, etc. These vary according to the size of the liner to be overhauled and the extent of such work. A large floating crane, even if only required to lift weights of 15 tons, costs $30 a day to hire. When all the bills for decorating and repainting both the inside and outside of a liner are met the owners find that they may not have much change out of $10,000.

JAPANESE SHIPPING IMPROVES.

There has been a further slight improvement in the shipping trade. Thanks to a slump in the yen exchange, Japanese operators are in a position to compete with foreign concerns in ocean shipping in which the freight calculation is made in foreign currency. The charter market has hardened, particularly in view of the scarcity of bottoms for immediate delivery. Rates have advanced 30 to 50 sen all round. The ship market attaches much importance to the Government encouragement plan for shipping, but in anticipation of the Diet approval, the tone is firm. Negotiations for scrap vessels are in a state of suspension.

To-morrow's Macao Races

The Novices will be out in the Yangtze Handicap, and a glance at the weights convinces one that the official handicapper has done his work well. There are 20 entries for the race and Valley Hall will dispose of any starter in the race. He is certainly the safest bet of the day.

Venturous is almost an equal certainty for the Whangpoo Handicap, in spite of the great weight he is carrying, and while the field for the Ladies' Scramble is very open, it would not be surprising to see Estrellita, ridden by Miss Farr, running into first money.

FRESH, FAIR.

The Royal Observatory's weather report for to-day states:—
The anti-cyclone over N. China continues to increase in intensity.

Fresh monsoon will prevail along the China coast and over the North China Sea.
Forecast:— North winds; fresh fair.

In regard to the proposal that frank recognition of Germany's claim to equality of status should be accompanied by a declaration in which European states would engage not to attempt to resolve any present or future differences between them by resort to force, such an undertaking would imply something more than reaffirmation of the Kellogg Pact, which precluded the resorting to war as an instrument of national policy.

The world is familiar with occasions which, although there has technically been no resort to war, there has undoubtedly been resort to force. It is with the idea of precluding employment of such measures that the proposal is put forward.

Sir Austen Chamberlain has described Foreign Secretary's statement as not merely a speech, but a new factor in world politics, and a factor with an immense power for good. It received practically unanimous approval in the House of Commons and in the press.—British Wireless Service.

"British International Pictures have another winner in 'The Innocents of Chicago'. The plot is ingenious, the cast is excellent, and Mr. Lane's direction gets the last ounce of action, excitement, and laughter out of his very happy material. This is a picture which all filmgoers suffering from a surfeit of gangster melodrama will receive with delight."
